

Derek Dygulski

IT212 - Broadcast Graphics
Final Video - Self-Promotion Reel
Instructor - John Thompson

The following are screen capture stills of a self promotion demo reel featuring work done by Visual Communication's student Derek Dygulski. It represents a virtual "walk-thru" of his career as a student from his beginnings creating "table work" to his transition to digital media.

Zoom toward television. Screen lights up and begins playing video. All modeling work done using Autodesk 3DS Max.

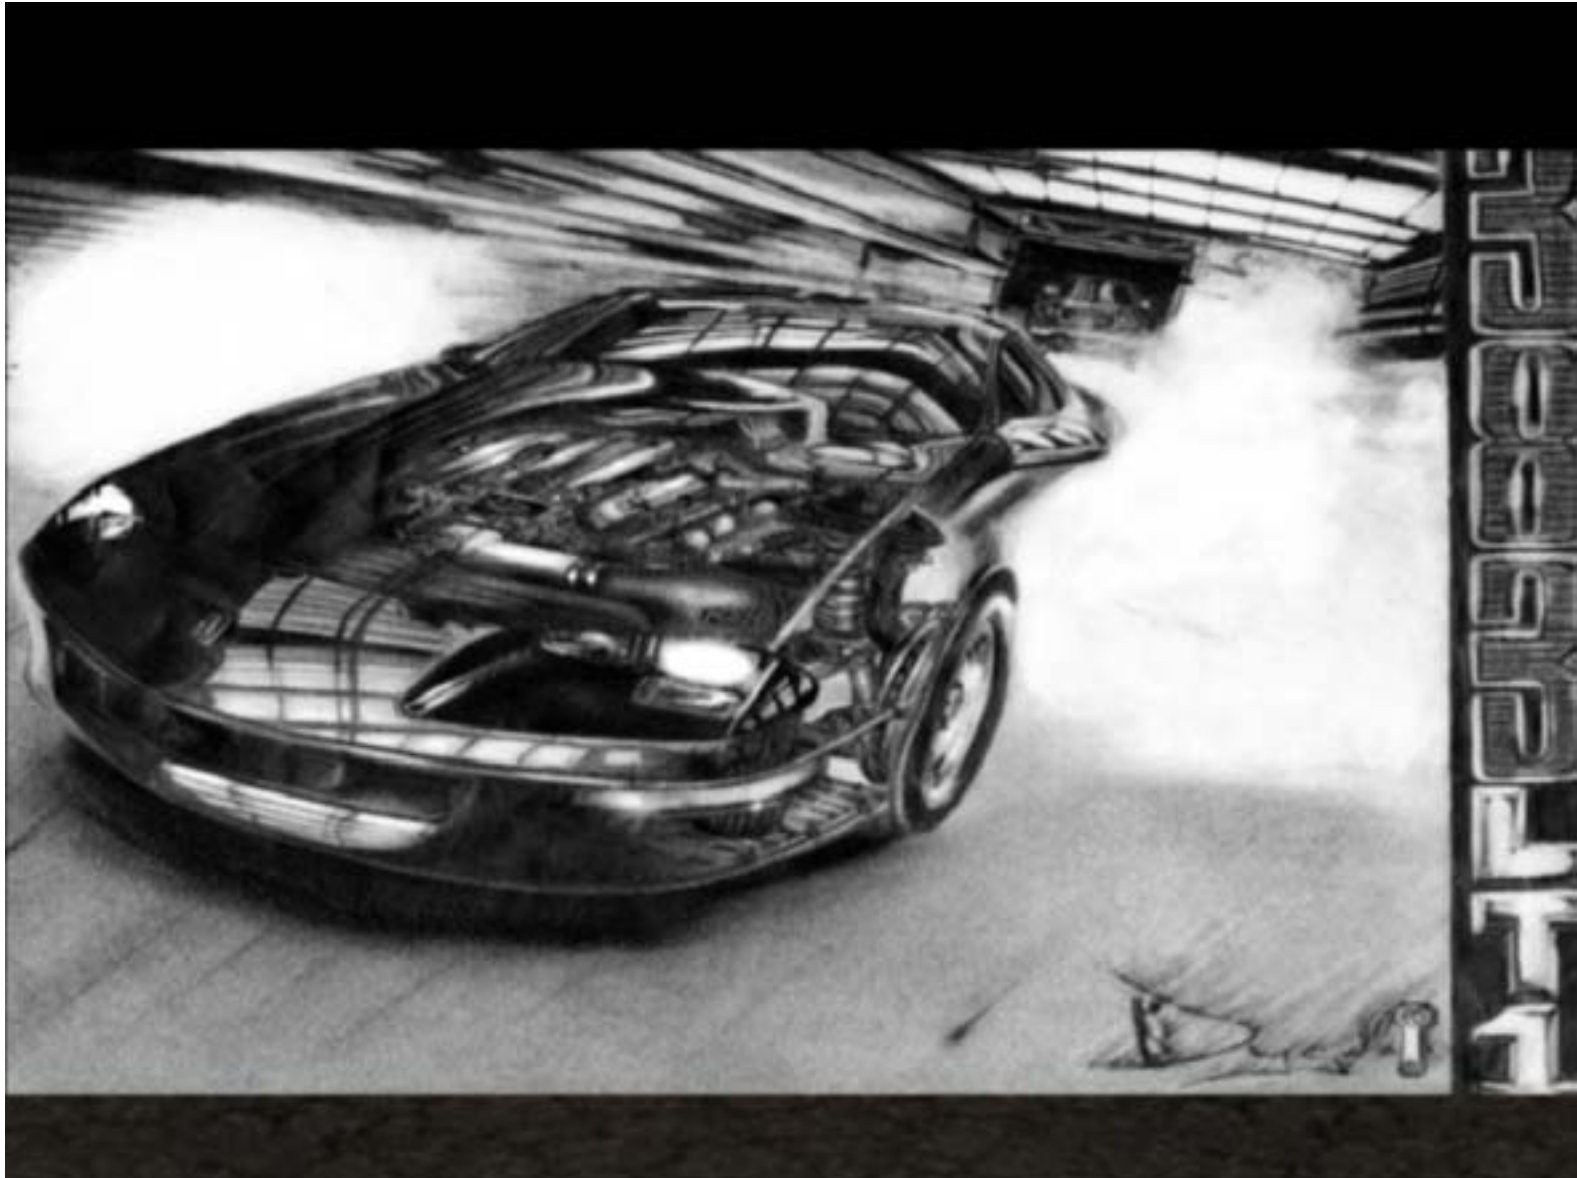

Zoom to desk with a box of crayons and a drawing spotlighted in a dark room. Text fades in and out on the screen "It all started with my first box of crayons..."

(Work created in Autodesk 3DS Max and Adobe After Effects)

Art flies towards camera and fades out.
(Hand drawn in CD130 - Rapid Visualization)

Art flies towards camera and fades out.
(Hand drawn in CD130 - Rapid Visualization)

Art transitions from hand to digital.
(Created in VC220 using Adobe Illustrator)

Art transitions from hand to digital.
(Created in VC220 using Adobe Illustrator)

Final piece created using Autodesk 3DS Max (IT311) as text, "my love for design remains", fades in and out (Adobe After Effect IT212).

Camera pans back outside of the television screen displaying the student's personal brand.